Dear Mr. Jones:

This is in response to your letter of July 11, 2013, regarding the apparent excess donation by Thomas and Connie Schuette.

I am forwarding supporting documentation, and will call you to discuss in the next few days (or you may call me at 920-312-0365 at your convenience.

I have enclosed a copy of the remittance form they sent and a copy of their check. Note that the form has their handwritten comment: "This should max us out." That certainly indicates an awareness of their situation that the fund be applied to the general election of 2016.

The error was an input error on my part. We switched to a new software package earlier this year. I was not aware at the time that this package does not issue a warning of excess donation at the time of input, which the old software did.

Please review the documentation. I believe filing an amended report showing the actual intent of the donors might be the best solution.

I will talk to you soon, Thank you for your consideration

Contributions are not tax deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes. The FEC raised contribution limits on January 30, 2013. By law, the maximum amount an individual may contribute is $2,600 ($5,200 per couple) per election (for each primary and general election). Federal multi-candidate PACs may contribute $5,000 per election. Federal law requires us to obtain and report the name, mailing address, occupation and name of employer for each individual whose contributions aggregate in excess of $200 per election cycle. Contributions by corporations, foreign nationals (non-green card holders), labor unions, federal government contractors, and minors under the age of 18 are prohibited.
